The care that has been taken to train you up in the fear of God and his most holy Religion, is the ground upon which they raise the most favourable expectations of your future conduct. Your infant years were attended with many cares; the time to come will be accompanied with many fears, lest your future behaviour may not be such as becometh the Gospel of Christ, and the expectations of your friends, end in disappointment. As young persons too often meet with great temptations to leave the path of virtue, at their first setting out in the world, it is of great importance to preserve their character and reputation unblemished, to convince them how happy it will be for them to live as their Christian vows require they should live. This would insure God s blessing upon them whilst on earth, and complete their happiness after death. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
